

Sunday, April 19, 2009

Mark Bright

In the summer following 9th grade, Mrs. Compton, an English teacher at Jones Jr. High offered a ground school flight training course. I remember Mark Bright being in that class with me.

Mark was already active in Civil Air Partol at that young age of 15, and he was totally fascinated with the idea of flying. I had always wondered over the years, whether he had pursued that dream.

Unfortunately I was unable to find out, until his death, where I saw he did in fact fly 747's for Northwest. Although his death was extremely early, I am very happy to see that he did, in fact, fulfill his dream of flying!

Dennis Anderholm